

A woman with grey hair and a man are sitting on the grass in a park, meditating. They are both in a lotus position with their eyes closed and hands resting on their knees in a mudra. The background shows lush green trees and a clear sky. The entire scene is overlaid with a semi-transparent dark red rectangle containing text.

We are delighted to invite you to an exclusive Koios Care event, offering a deep dive into our latest clinical study results and an exciting opportunity to engage with our innovative approach.

Who is on the frontline?

Koios Care is spearheaded by its co-founders, Konstantinos Kyritsis (CEO) and Dimitris Iakovakis (CTO), who are driving the company's vision. They are supported by an experienced team of co-founders, including Gregor Strobbe (CEO of epilog / clouds of care), Jurgen van Broeck (CEO of mAbxience), and clinicians Prof. of neurology Gaëtan Garraux (CHU de Liège) and Jean-Briac Prévost (Centre Pierre - Marie Curie).

About Koios Care:

Koios Care is an Antwerp-based healthtech startup with a clinically validated product, currently raising funds from institutional and private investors who recognize the potential and clinical relevance of our unique technology. Our solutions are designed to characterize and improve the Quality of Life (QoL) for individuals with Parkinson's Disease and beyond.

Our innovative solution addresses a critical, unmet need for remote, passive, and objective QoL assessment. In a recent study involving over 130 patients across four leading hospital centers, we refined and validated our solution, demonstrating its effectiveness. The technology has been positively received by patients, who are experiencing its benefits and choosing to pay out-of-pocket for access.

By leveraging the unique data from our Koios Care study and the expertise of our dedicated team, we are well-positioned for global commercialization in the care and pharmaceutical sectors, with a robust customer pipeline.
